DETAILED ACTION

A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission, filed on 8/30/04, has been entered including entry of the amended claims, filed 6/11/04.

Applicants' arguments, filed 8/30/04, have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive. Rejections and/or objections not reiterated from previous office actions are hereby withdrawn. The following rejections and/or objections are either reiterated or newly applied. They constitute the complete set presently being applied to the instant application.

VAGUENESS AND INDEFINITENESS

Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The phrase "and derivatives thereof" causes claim 8 to be vague and indefinite because the metes and bounds of what derivation includes such as deletions and/or additions and/or substitutions are not defined. Without some definition anything may be included. Clarification via clearer claim wording is requested.

Art Unit: 1631

PRIOR ART

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Nilsen et al. (P/N 5,175,270); taken in view of Matthews et al. [Analytical Biochemistry 169:1 (1988)].

Nilsen et al. has been summarized in the previous office action as describing the linker molecule with nucleic acid for hybridization detection practice bound to a nanoparticle but lacks the metal description regarding a metal as listed in instant claim 1, last line. Nilsen et al, however, suggests and motivates the inclusion of known embodiments of labeling of RNA or DNA in the matrices of Nilsen et al. in column 13, line 56, through column 14, line 4, with examples.

Matthews et al. is a review article directed to DNA or RNA hybridization practices wherein labeling of DNA or RNA is summarized on pages 5-8. Colloidal gold (Au) labeling practice is cited as a clear option both in Table 3 on page 6 as well as Table 4 on page 7.

Thus, it would have been obvious to someone of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the instant invention to practice the linker/nanoparticle of Nilsen et al. motivated therein to label with a variety of labels including gold type labels which is a metal specie of instant claim 1 as described as a label type in Matthews et al. to result in the practice of the instant claim.

CLAIM OBJECTIONS

Claims 2-7, 9, 31, and 32 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

No claim is allowed.
